ORNAMENTATION

Body decoration has been identified as early as 115,000 BC. This body ornamentation leads me to believe this is the first instances of fashion.

Formal and deliberate construction of jewelry has been discovered as early as 30,000 BC, and were demonstrated with the use of snail shells marked, drilled and strung together with twine.

However, the first noble metal (such as silver and gold) was dated back to 4,300 BC in the form of a simple 24 carat gold pendant.

ART JEWELRY

Art jewelry to me is more about the feeling of an outward and internal expression, in which "self" can be displayed.

The mix of noble metals and precious gems can create a sense of elation.
